

In 2011, Elizabeth Melendez Fisher Good co-founded what is today the leading service provider to domestic survivors of sex trafficking, Selah Freedom. With a passion to collaboratively bring together leaders in the movement to protect the next generation from sexual exploitation and abuse, she co-founded the Selah Way Foundation in 2018. This network of the top service providers has a mission to exponentially eradicate sexual exploitation and sex trafficking on a global scale. As the CEO of The Selah Way Foundation, she has formed three initiatives to accomplish this goal: Prevention, Protection and Provision. The goal of these initiatives is to get ahead of this issue in hopes of eradicating it and become a model and training arm for the international community.

Elizabeth is a passionate pioneer and inspirational thought leader in the movement to eradicate sex trafficking and expose the root of the issue, childhood sexual abuse. She has spearheaded an awakening and brought partners and resources together with proven solutions to save lives.

She is the author of Groomed (Harper Collins, 2020), which recounts her own story of loss, trauma and overcoming. Fisher Good is deeply passionate about helping women from all backgrounds discover how to live free from past traumas, strongholds and lies they may have been groomed to believe about themselves. She guides readers toward an understanding that grooming is oftentimes subtle, but it's always life-altering. She offers readers a way to overcome their past, starting with all-important but rarely explored idea of a selah, or a time of rest and reflection, and exploring active ways to forgive and move forward to a whole new level of freedom. Her authentic, transparent and raw approach is refreshing and comforting to readers, no matter what stage of life they are in.

Elizabeth has been highlighted and described as, “Part healer, part businesswoman, all resolve—if Selah Freedom is bringing light into the darkness, as the slogan says, then she is the one behind the megawatt.” She is the recipient of the prestigious New York City Global Business Leader Award and Tampa Bay Business Woman of the Year Award. Elizabeth has her Bachelor’s degree in Communications and her Master’s in Clinical Psychology.
